"The Guiding Principles of Grandview Heights High School:

To develop in each pupil the realization that major objectives in life are to attain happiness and to be a useful citizen.

To provide the tools by which the pupil may sharpen his intelligence, raise the standard of his thinking, and enrich his whole life in order that these major objectives of happiness and usefulness may be attained."

ADMINISTRATION

Robert A. Timmons
Superintendent

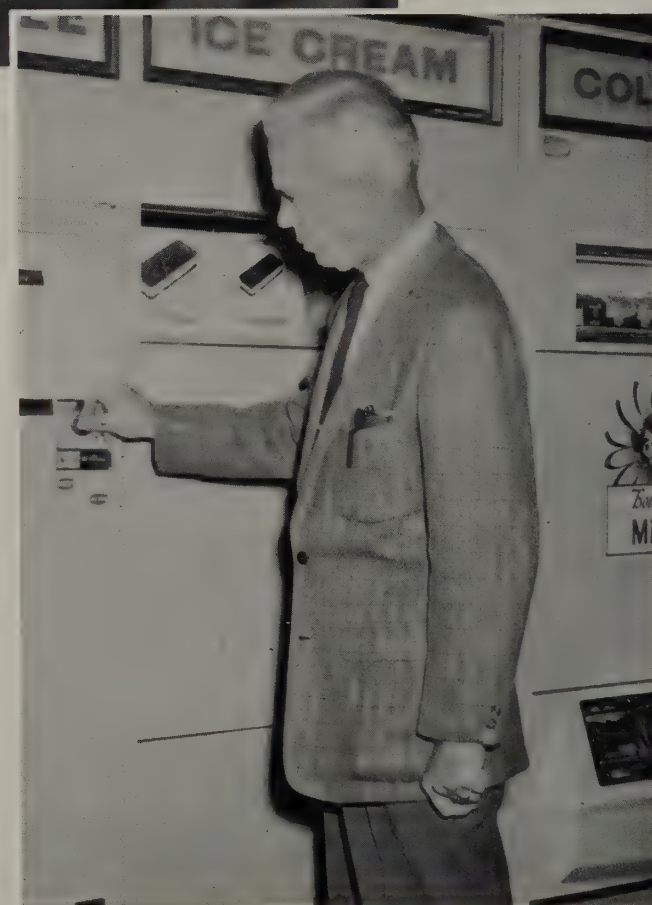

During our lifetime there are two major areas of concern in which we all become involved. How to make a living is of primary importance to each one of us. Of equal significance, however, is how we live our life.

As graduating seniors, you need to become vitally concerned with these two aspects of living. The first one denotes financial security and the materialistic things in life, while the latter is related to our spiritual and moral growth and development.

We are living in an era which has a tremendous future, but it is dependent upon the wisdom of our choices and the effectiveness of our actions. We all must have worthy goals and place our trust in the forthcoming generations. The adults of today must have faith in the future—the youth of today.

Best wishes to the Class of 1964.

Robert A. Timmons

Ralph D.
Beery
Principal

Happiness . . . the pursuit of, was made a national institution in 1776.

Happiness can be many things to many people. To children it may be "dressing sloppy anytime you want to" or "a pair of warm furry slippers on a cold winter night" or as a well known book is titled, "Happiness Is A Warm Puppy." To adults, happiness comes from purposeful living. Someone has said that the Hallmarks of the truly educated are discipline, responsibility, and wisdom. If adults have these Hallmarks, then their happiness depends to a great extent on the thoughts and attitudes they distill out of these ingredients. Happiness relies to a high degree upon the habit of mind people cultivate. The book of Proverbs tells us " . . . he that is of a merry heart hath a continual feast."

Best wishes to the class of 1964!

Ralph D. Beery

Board of Education—James Karlovec, Dr. Richard Patton, vice president; Robert A. Timmons, superintendent; Rhoda O. Sams, clerk-treasurer; Dr. Ellsworth E. McSweeney, Dwight E. Welsh, vice president; Martha B. Agler, president.

Board of Education Works Toward Welfare of Students

The Board of Education acts as a legislative body for the school and with the assistance of Mr. Timmons studies and develops policies for the school system.

As we returned to school we noticed the remodeled high school office, the freshly painted walls, and the repaired desks. The Board had authorized all of these improvements.

This year for the first time adult evening classes were organized. Spanish courses, bridge, sewing, art, and cake decorating lessons were offered to the public. These classes were held one night a week for eight weeks. They were offered twice during the year. In addition to courses the Board again approved the adult recreation program.

The Board of Education is responsible for the budget. It is in charge of all funds and all money going out of the school. It approves recommendations made by the superintendent and principal. It is also responsible for employing teachers and custodians, deciding employees' salaries, buying new books, taking the school census, and approving the year's calendar.

The members of the Board meet on the third Wednesday of each month and serve "without pay."

BELINDA McCLELLAND

Various Duties Occupy Secretaries' Time and Energy

Mrs. Mary Ann Valles is the school's financial secretary. Her main duty consists of banking and counting all the money that the school's organizations have turned in to her. She also serves as secretary to Mr. Myers in the guidance center. Helping Mr. Myers, she copies and records test scores.

Mrs. Bertha McCombs serves as secretary-receptionist for Mr. Timmons and the Board of Education. She keeps the files and all the records in order. She is also kept busy with other general office work.

Miss Belinda McClelland serves as the high school secretary.

She does general office work and keeps all student records. She also mimeographs many tests for the teachers and sends out the morning bulletin and absence list. As Mr. Beery's private secretary she is responsible for handling all correspondence.

Miss Rhoda Sams is the secretary and treasurer for the Board of Education. She attends all board meetings and records the proceedings. She is also responsible for keeping an accurate record of all the funds of the district.

Junior English students learn to think together and carry on purposeful conversation through group discussion. Mrs. Core, Rick Messerschmidt, Nancy Randall, Kelly Kahler, Jim Melfi, Nancy Caldwell, Jim Estep.

"Portraits help the student to know better the subject of a biography," says Mrs. Mallett to Debby Schmidt and Roger Shaeffer.

Speech students learn the significance of oral interpretation. Valerie James, Mr. Rodgers, Dave Williams, Karen Zimmer.

Reading of Novels Furthers Students' Literary Knowledge

The English department utilized new materials in order to expand the English program. Upperclass courses were supplemented with such literary magazines as Cavalcade, and Atlantic Monthly, which brought recent articles and dramas into the classrooms. Practical English workbooks were used by juniors in an effort to improve mechanical English, and the freshmen enlarged their vocabularies with the aid of the Reader's Digest.

Students gained skills in writing compositions by studying the works of great authors. Literature projects enabled students to delve into material pertaining to a particular subject.

Teachers of freshmen and sophomores stressed functional grammar and theme writing as well as reading comprehension. Junior and seniors presented speeches and poems before a group. Through these experiences, they were prepared to present improvisations and mock commercials and to organize their thoughts logically and to express their ideas clearly and concisely.

Fourth period Spanish class chuckles over one of Mr. Smailes' jokes.

Proper pronunciation is an important part of learning French. Mrs. Morgan shows Beckie Hutchinson the proper use of the language lab.

GHS Students Present Skit at City-Wide French Banquet

The language department did its part to cope with the communication problem of the world.

Sophomores were able to take second year French for the first time this year. All French students had a chance to dictate and interpret conversation with the use of a language laboratory. They had a chance also to write and present a skit for the city-wide French Banquet.

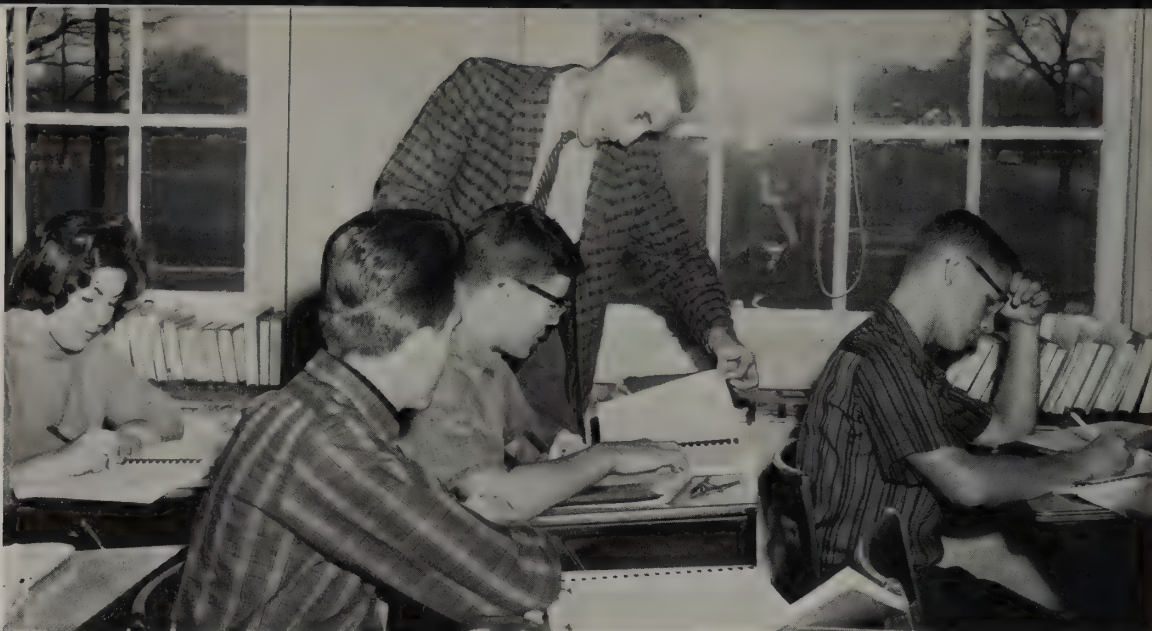

First and second year Spanish students became acquainted with the language and customs of "Our Neighbors to the South" while third and fourth year students strove for fluency and accuracy in conversation. Everyone taking Spanish turned in term papers.

Latin projects and Caesar's classic history helped Latin scholars form a better understanding of our own language. It also laid a foundation for those who wish to enter medical, technical, and scientific fields.

A problem in the special plane geometry workbooks is explained to Bill Tremaine by Mr. McCullough.

Freshman algebra students Sue Bach and Luanna Carter solve for "x" as Mrs. McCaughey looks on.

Teaching Machines Instruct Eager Geometry Students

Students taking math courses gained skill in applying accuracy and logic.

Freshmen taking college preparatory courses learned the fundamentals of algebra. They learned how to factor and solve for "x." Students not planning to go to college chose general mathematics.

A new plane geometry program was offered to one class of sophomores. They had special books and used a special machine to help them learn at their own rate. An unusual feature of this program was that all of the work was done in class.

Furthering their knowledge by taking Algebra II, juniors gained knowledge of quadratic equations, graphing, and complex numbers.

Seniors used clay, paper, and straws to construct abstract shapes for solid geometry. Each student brought his kit to class and used it to help him prove theories and solve problems. During the second semester trigonometry students mastered the art of finding the sine, cosine, and tangent of a triangle accurately.

Solid geometry student Mark Miller shows Mrs. Peterson and classmates how he builds a triangular pyramid.

Earth science instructor, Mr. Lawrence, explains rock formations to students.

Science Offers Challenge and Discovery to Students

The science department offered basic science classes and advanced classes for those students who wanted to further their knowledge.

Freshmen in earth science learned everything from how the earth's crust was formed to how to check the latest developments in our weather.

Microscopes, slide tests, dissections, and manikins soon became a part of every biology student's life. Essay type questions given on tests helped students prepare for the kind of tests they may receive in college.

Modern laboratory facilities gave the chemistry students a chance to experiment with accuracy. Lecture topics included "How To Make Oxygen," "The Boiling Point of Water," and "The Complexity of a Carbon Chain."

Seniors in physics had an opportunity to learn an exact science. Students discovered the uses of a slide rule and the importance of nuclear and atomic energy.

Senior physics students construct a second class lever to confirm their calculations. Jim Harris, Linda Lemmon, Mr. Drinkhouse, John Kelly.

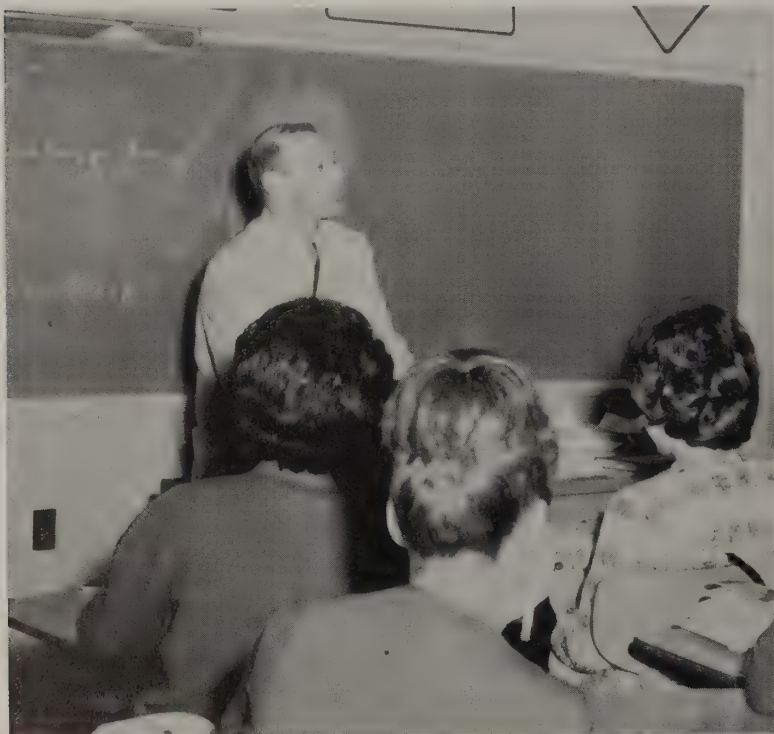

Oxygen, our essential element, is being prepared by means of water displacement. Mr. Arnold, Bill Bangham, Rick Wells, Bill Black.

"Lights, camera, action" says American history teacher, Mr. Robinson, as he prepares to show "Johnny Tremain."

Informal group analysis is an important part of Mr. Householder's sociology class.

Current Events Give History Students Good Background

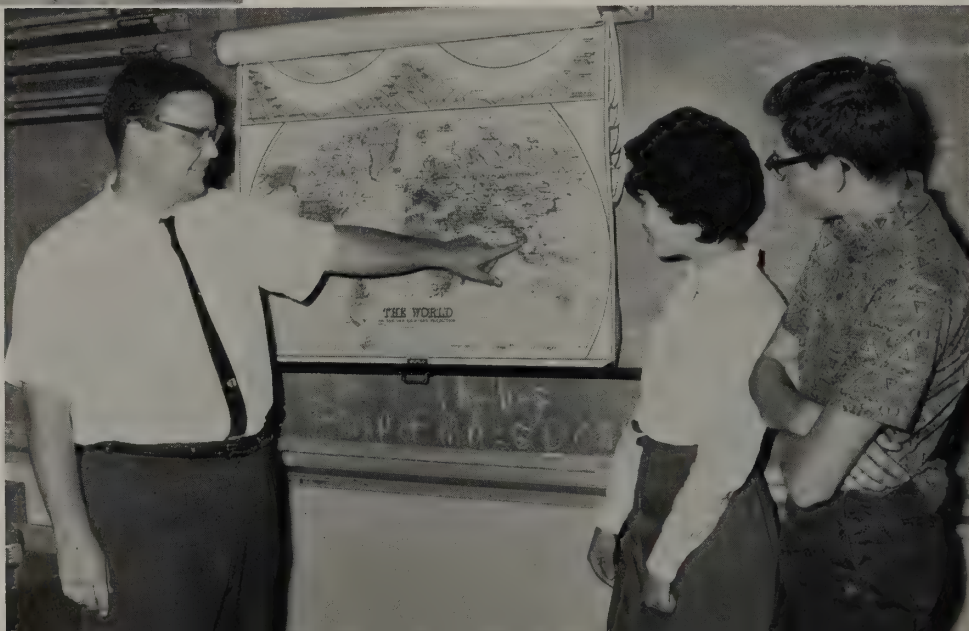

Social studies classes gave students an insight into the problems of our society. History classes studied past and present civilizations while sociology students studied the masses of people and psychology classes gained knowledge about personality development.

Students in American history took notes from an overhead projector and later used them in class discussions. Movies, book reports, and term papers made this class more challenging.

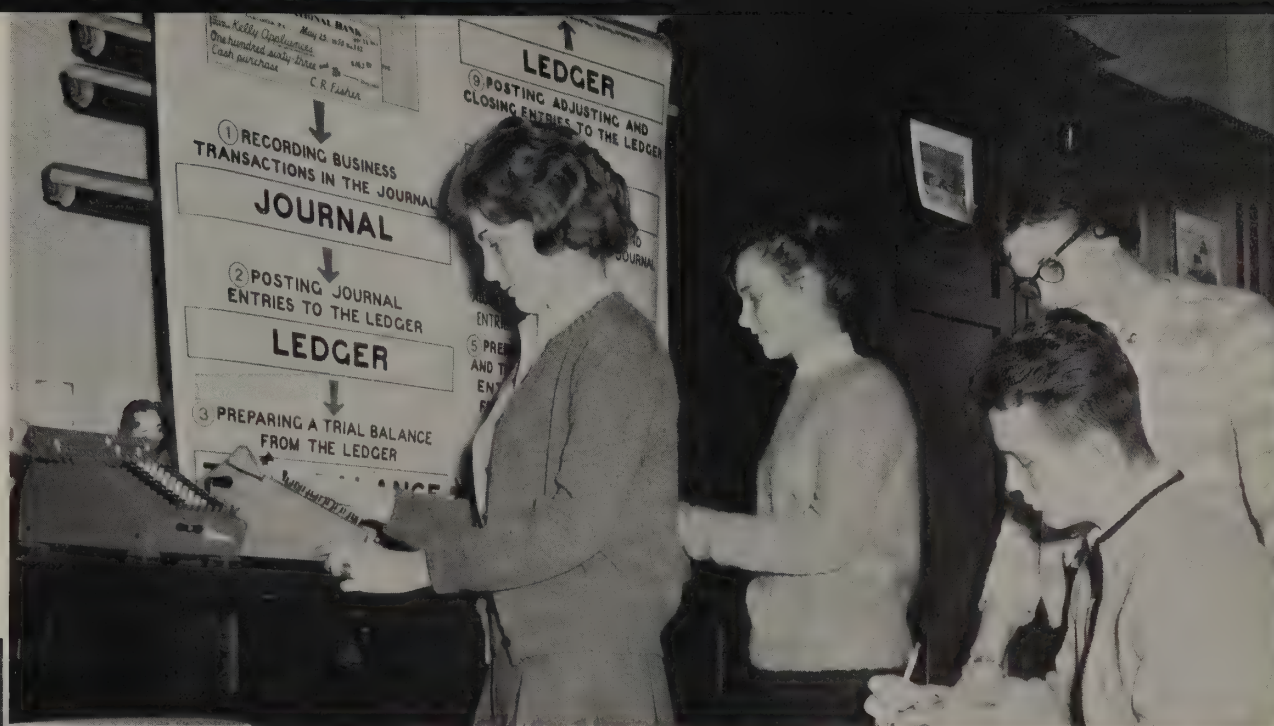

Newscasts and current events brought out continuing world problems. In the world history classes students traced the progress of mankind down through the ages.

Classes in economics learned how man spends his money today, while civics students studied the complex facets of our democracy. Air age geography helped students become aware of the topography of the earth. Film strips, charts, and graphs proved to be important visual aids for these classes.

After a discussion on South Vietnam Mr. Coats points out this trouble spot to Linda Bercaw and Alan Agler.

The importance of accuracy is essential in business. Bookkeeping students acquire this training through practice. Angie Melarango, JoAnne Trimble, Mrs. Boder, Dave Marvin.

Contrasting colors are used to create a personal effect in art classes.

Home economics instructor, Mrs. Fink, shows Belinda Large and Donna Perrota the proper way to replace a bobbin, as Joyce Hutchison completes her project.

General Subjects Provide Good Vocational Background

General subjects were offered for students who wanted to choose extra electives or those who wanted a vocational background.

In order to prepare students for the business world, Typing I and II, Shorthand I and II, bookkeeping, and general business were available.

Besides learning the techniques of cooking, home economics students put their talents to work on the sewing machines to produce their own wardrobes.

Boys taking industrial arts made useful items from metal and wood to take home, while mechanical drawing helped students interested in engineering or architecture.

Aside from finishing their own projects of paintings, ceramics, and sculptures, art students helped make posters and dance decorations.

Those students daring enough to brave the snow and ice took driver's education. Actual classwork was supplemented with two periods of driving each week.

Seniors Work Hard to Earn Money for All-Night Trip

Playing the role of the leaders of Grandview High School, the seniors filled positions in athletics, journalism, music, clubs, and classrooms.

Earning money for graduation activities became one of their main goals. A car-wash before the start of school added the first sum to the treasury. A chile supper and a smorgasbord were served before football and basketball games to hungry fans. Seniors worked hard throughout the winter selling candy and Gourmet Books. The money-making projects ended with two spring workdays.

Seniors were honored at banquets and assemblies in the spring for their year of hard work. Thirteen students received scholarships totaling over $9000. In sports several boys placed on All-CBL teams and one was elected to the All-State baseball team.

The year of busy activity was brought to a close with graduation and an all-night party at Wittenberg University. As the members of the senior class go their separate ways, they can always look back on their four profitable years at Grandview.

Flower Selling and Chili Suppers Make Profit for Juniors

The class of '65 began planning money-raising projects early in the fall to insure itself of sponsoring a successful Junior-Senior. The first of these many and varied projects was working September 12-14 at the Ox Roast held annually by the Bobcat Boosters. Each class in the high school operated two games on the midway, and the juniors ranked second in the amount of profit taken in.

In late September arrival of the long-awaited class rings added to the excitement of being upper classmen.

Each Friday before home football games the junior girls sold carnations to students and faculty. The junior class also had two chili suppers, both of which were held before home basketball games. The first supper was held in December on Friday the thirteenth. However, the day was not "unlucky" and there was a large turnout for this supper and for the other, as well. Junior homeroom representatives began collecting dues of two dollars per person in September and received dues from about ninety-five per cent of the class. A dance held December 7 was another successful project sponsored by the juniors.

In the spring, the Junior-Senior was held at Arlington Arms and proved to be one of the most successful activities of the year. The juniors now look forward to becoming "mighty" seniors and leaders of the school.

Sophomores Take Active Interest in Activities and Schoolwork

The sophomores began their second year of high school with new enthusiasm and school spirit. The boys strived for more and better positions on varsity football and reserve basketball teams. The sophomore boys also boosted cross-country and wrestling squads by taking a more active interest than demonstrated in their freshman year. The girls started their second year of GAA by participating in hockey practices and on varsity teams and by showing co-ordination in both the drill team and modern dance club. Both boys and girls took active interest in all the other clubs and organizations open to them.

The class did well academically with students making the honor roll and placing on the General Scholarship Team.

The students worked hard at building their class treasury.

They showed their eagerness for getting things done early when they collected class dues in the fall. They sponsored two booths at the annual ox-roast. The sophomores took turns running the football throw and the dart throw. The underclassmen didn't let the year go by without sponsoring a dance.

Spring brought the election of four new cheerleaders from the sophomore class. The students also voted for new officers to lead them in their junior year. Working with the freshmen the class presented a successful Freshman-Sophomore Dance. This year's sophomores were the first to order school rings. With this the class turned their thoughts toward becoming upperclassmen.

Freshmen Begin Money Making Projects Early in the Year

The freshman class adapted quickly to high school life by taking an enthusiastic interest in scholastic and extracurricular activities. The girls were kept busy with intramural sports and club activities. The boys participated on the junior high football and basketball teams and senior high cross-country, wrestling, and track teams. Both boys and girls showed much school spirit and cheered the teams at the football and basketball games.

The freshmen started their first project the first week of school by sponsoring a dart game and a basketball toss at the annual Booster Carnival at Oxley Field. For operating these games, they received a certain share of the profits.

The class played an important part in changing the usual procedure of ordering rings. Along with the sophomores and the Student Council, they decided to select a school ring for themselves and all future Grandview High School students.

The freshmen worked for the first time on a big dance and their efforts produced a Freshman-Sophomore that will long be remembered.

This year has proved a successful one for the class of '67. They are now ready to assume the responsibilities of becoming sophomores.

Eighth Graders Assume Responsibility as Leaders

With a year of junior high behind them, eighth graders entered the school year ready to meet new challenges. Trying to make a successful year they participated in various sports, clubs, and activities.

The Student Council sponsored a Pep Song Contest. The person who wrote the best pep song for the junior high received a record album. The Dramatics Club presented a Christmas play, "The Tree," which was given in the high school auditorium.

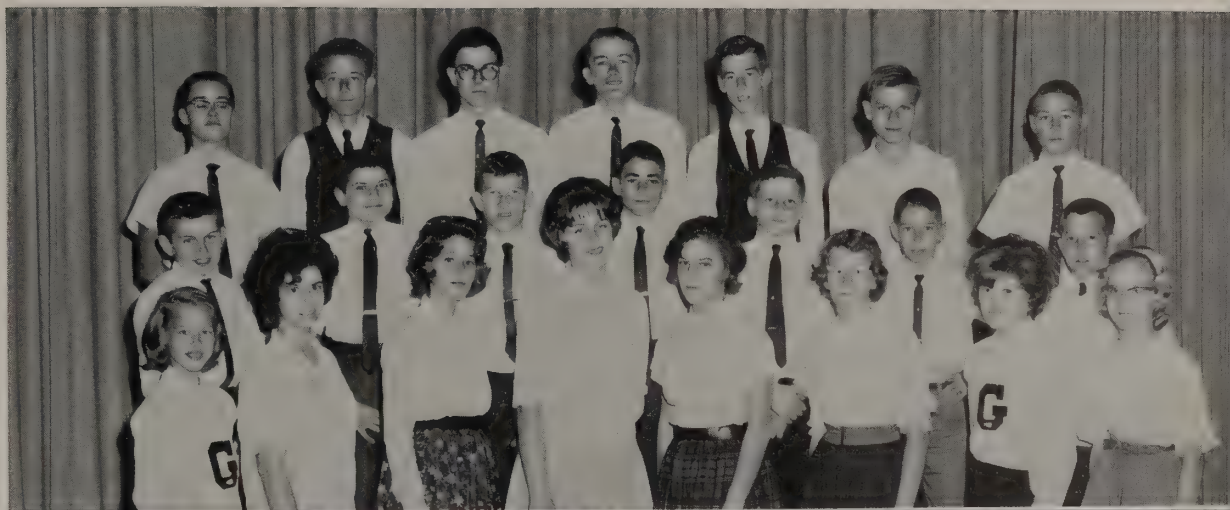

Girls were able to take part in organized sports. They marched with the drill team which was called "the Bob-kittens." They also played on basketball and various other teams. Boys had a successful season in basketball and football.

However, it was not all play for the eighth graders as they worked hard to make the honor roll. At the close of the year they took various aptitude tests to prepare them for their step into high school.

Goal of Seventh Graders Is Making the Honor Roll

The seventh graders adapted themselves easily to the change from elementary to junior high. They had little trouble finding their classes and settling down to work. Making the honor roll soon became the goal of many students.

The life of the seventh graders was not all work. Early in the fall they were invited to a mixer to help them get acquainted.

Clubs and activities played an important role in making this year successful. The Y-Teens made dolls which were sent to Franklin Village at Christmas. Also at Christmas the seventh grade Hi-Y sponsored a dance with the eighth grade Hi-Y. Seventh grade girls were given a chance to participate in organized sports for the first time. They were able to join GAL—a branch of GAA—and to take part in a drill team.

With one year of junior high behind them these ambitious seventh graders are looking forward to becoming leaders as eighth graders.

Council Members Take Active Part in City Government

The first project the Student Council undertook was the Newcomers Tea for new students and their parents. Fall activities included guiding lost parents on Back-to-School Night, distributing student directories, and sponsoring two dances.

Mid-year found the council engaged in several projects. Sweatshirts were sold to boost Bobcat spirit as well as the council's treasury. A donkey basketball game featuring the faculty against the council was staged. Local talent and well-known folk-singer Chuck White combined to present a Hootenanny.

Members witnessed the procedures of our local government as they joined civic leaders to sponsor a Youth-in-Government Day. John Herbert, state treasurer, was the featured speaker at the luncheon at Presutti's. Afterwards members visited Grandview's new municipal building and attended a city council meeting. Several council members took an active part in the Franklin County Area Student Council.

Student Council Sponsors Exchange to West Allegheny

The most time consuming of all Student Council activities was the annual student exchange. This year the Council selected West Allegheny High School, near Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

In late March a delegation of seven students and one adviser from West Allegheny visited Grandview. Activities for the week included classroom visiting, an ice skating party, a progressive dinner, a shopping spree, several open houses, and a tour of Ohio State University Campus and greater Columbus.

Grandview's seven ambassadors left for West Allegheny early in April. Their extracurricular activities included bowling, golfing, visiting Pittsburgh's shopping district, attending a Pittsburgh Pirates baseball game, a banquet-dance, and several open houses held in their honor. While they were in West Allegheny they observed and contrasted the differences in the two school systems. Later at an assembly they reported on their trip to the entire Grandview student body.

Red Cross Devotes Time and Effort to Hospital Service

The Red Cross, a service organization, consists of members who volunteered their time and service to one of five hospitals in the area.

Early in the year the club sponsored an assembly. A movie was shown to illustrate the part the youth of Columbus play in the Red Cross. Miss Esther Patz, guest speaker, explained further their role and answered questions.

At Christmas the club donated twenty dollars to the Franklin Village Teenage Clothing Fund. Later in the year the club sent a basket of fruit to the village.

In April several of the volunteers received caps for fifty hours of service and service stripes for 100 hours of service.

Boosters Provide Pep Band to Add Spirit to Games

When the school year opened this fall, the Boosters were in full swing campaigning for office and striving for 100 per cent membership in each homeroom.

School spirit reached a new high as enthusiastic students joined the Pep Club and backed inter-school sports events. To promote attendance at football and basketball games, the Pep Club sponsored student buses to away games.

Fund raising projects for the year included two successful dances, one after a football game and one after a basketball game. To provide another addition to the treasury, the Boosters sold programs at the basketball games.

The traditional Booster assemblies received eager support. Energetic students displayed their talents and everyone enjoyed watching their fellow classmates dance, sing, and present skits. This year, for the first time, a junior high Booster program was organized. Seventh and eighth graders worked busily to present their own junior high Booster assemblies.

Staff Members Devote Time and Energy to Produce Yearbook

Having returned from a summer journalism workshop at Ohio University the senior editors began the hard work necessary to produce the 1964 Highlander.

The activities of the many clubs, sports, and events were recorded. There were pictures to be taken, copy to be written, and layouts to be finished. The staff and editors worked hard to meet their three deadlines.

The business staff worked hard to finance the yearbook. There were two subscription drives, ad sales, and a dance to increase the income. In addition to this, the business staff members made the layouts for the advertising pages. During the second subscription drive the two staffs combined to present an assembly skit promoting the yearbook.

Through the efforts of both staffs the activities and memories of the year were collected and recorded in the pages of the Highlander.

Originality Is One of Many Goals for Staff Members

The Bobcat began a busy year by announcing the result of the Booster election. Under the direction of Joe Victor, editor, and Mrs. Mallett, adviser, seven more editions were published covering Homecoming and the May Queen elections, cheerleading try outs, the Senior Poll, and all school activities. A special April Fool's issue was also published providing satire and humor.

Instead of the usual reviews about members of the senior class, the area was widened to include all high school students with one story in each issue. Another monthly feature was a critical review of books recommended for student reading.

In January additional time was spent in choosing three cub reporters.

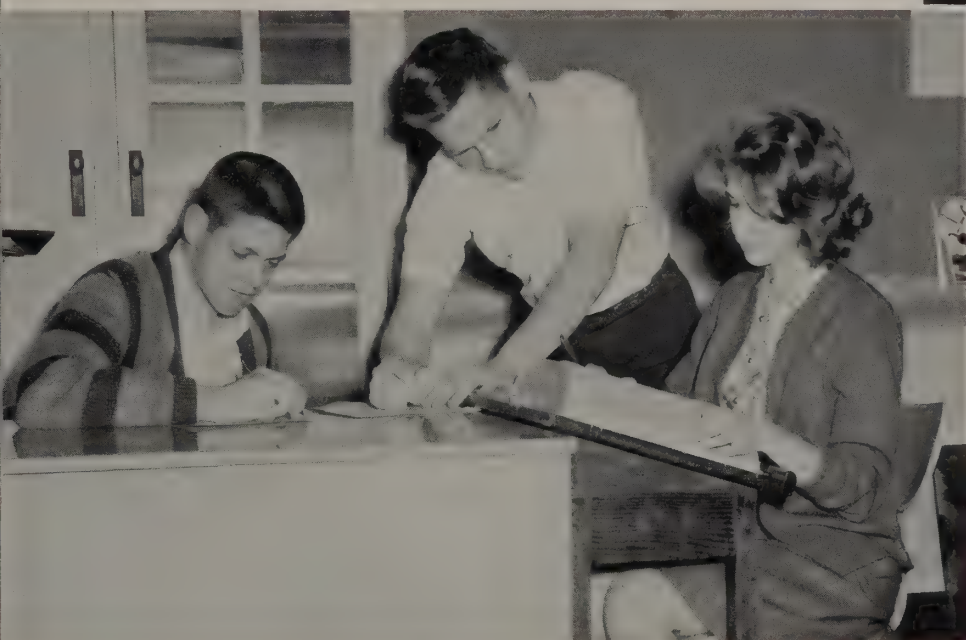

To finance the Bobcat, the business staff helped sponsor a Hootenanny in the fall. In addition, the Scott-Krauss bookmobile spent a week at Grandview providing a major money-making project for the staff and a wide variety of books for the students.

Business staff members hurry to get papers ready for distribution. Sharon Ott, Mary Guggenaster, Judy Cooper, Rick Bell, Connie Black.

Leaders Devise New Method of Selecting Homcoming Court

The Leaders Club is composed of all the officers of all the clubs in the high school. Their task is to determine the qualifications and eligibility for the homcoming court, girls and boys state representatives, and Booster candidates.

After fall elections the club proceeded with their important job of nominating a homcoming court. A new form of voting was proposed. It provided a more representative type of nominating. The club first chose fifteen girls from the senior class and then lowered the number to ten. The entire senior class then elected the court.

In the middle of the year the Leaders Club held a tea in honor of the exchange students from West Allegheny High School, Imperial, Pennsylvania. This mixer was held at the home of Kim Kaiser and Karen Engdahl.

In the spring the club elected boys and girls state representatives. The girls and boys spent a week at Capital University and Ohio University, respectively, learning the practices of our government. Following the election of these representatives a meeting was held to determine the eligibility of Booster candidates.

Science Club Members Submit Entries to Local Science Fair

Under the direction of Mr. Arnold, the adviser, the science club tried a new system this year. The underclassmen worked on individual projects. While this approach did not replace the conventional activities, it has gained a foothold in the Science Club program. Members entered their projects in the Science Fair held in March. Also new this year, were after school movies which had been shown to the chemistry classes but were shown again for interested club members.

To learn more about future science, the club went on a field trip to Battelle Memorial Institute. Several speakers gave the members an insight to more specific scientific facts. Dr. Frajola gave an introduction to the "Magic of Chemistry," and Dr. Ellis showed the interesting side of research in pesticides.

For a fund raising project the club sponsored a dance called "The Second Annual Enrico Fermi Memorial Dance."

Future Teachers Make Two Trips to the State Hospital

In order to give members views of teaching, Future Teachers of America gives juniors and seniors practical teaching experience. They participate in classes from kindergarten to high school. Members may observe, help the teacher, grade papers, decorate bulletin boards, read stories to the class, or teach. One member's class presented the Christmas story and sang carols for one of the meetings.

For those members not participating in the classrooms there were two trips to the State School and interesting speakers at the meetings. One of the speakers, Mrs. Sanders, a kindergarten teacher, talked about her experiences in the classroom and on educational television. At the State School, games were taught and refreshments were served to a group of boys from six to twelve years old.

New officers were tapped at a banquet held in May. Awards were given to outstanding seniors.

Caducean Club Learns Facts Concerning Medical Careers

The Caducean Club offered students interested in medicine an opportunity to gain knowledge and information they needed in choosing a definite career.

Throughout the year various speakers presented programs on the different facets of medicine. Mr. Robert Myers, guidance counselor, spoke on the opportunities and requirements in nursing. Student nurses from Grant and Riverside Hospitals told about the contrasting student life at their schools. Other speakers included a public health nurse, a social worker, and a dental hygienist.

At Christmas the organization donated fifty dollars to the Franklin County Juvenile Diagnostic Center. This money enabled officials to buy recreational equipment and personal compacts for the girls.

The Columbus Academy of Medicine provided the movie "A Girl in White." At this meeting, the club entertained the Future Nurses Organization from Upper Arlington High School.

At the traditional spring banquet, the officers for the next year were installed and the outstanding members were honored.

Co-ed Club Learns to Wrap Packages and Decorate Cakes

The Co-ed Club started the year by doubling last year's membership. It was open to any girl who had at least one year of home economics. The Co-eds spent an interesting year sponsoring dinners, learning about careers in home economics, and listening to hints on how to run a home.

At one meeting the girls saw a movie on careers. Speakers showed them how to decorate attractive cakes and wrap packages for all occasions.

The girls spent a lot of their time entertaining. The Ravens, a rock-and-roll band from Arlington, were featured at the Co-ed Club Dance. This turned out to be one of the most successful of the year, bringing in more money than any other dance. Spring brought a potluck for the club's own members and a tea for the mothers, where a buyer from Lazarus spoke.

New officers were honored at a smorgasbord banquet at the Sciota Inn in April.

Ecuadorian Student Creates Interest in Spanish Club

A get-acquainted tea got the Spanish Club off to a good start. Mr. Robert Smailes, club adviser, guided the club in its fourth year of existence.

Jose Endara, a foreign exchange student from Ecuador, joined the club, so Spanish students had a chance to practice speaking with a native. Jose also spoke at one of the meetings and answered questions about his life at the American School in Quito and about the customs practiced there. Members had a chance to become acquainted with our Spanish speaking neighbors by exchanging letters with pen-pals.

A trip to El Torro for a Spanish dinner brought a change of pace to the club. The atmosphere of the restaurant and the food served gave the members a look into the life of the Spanish people.

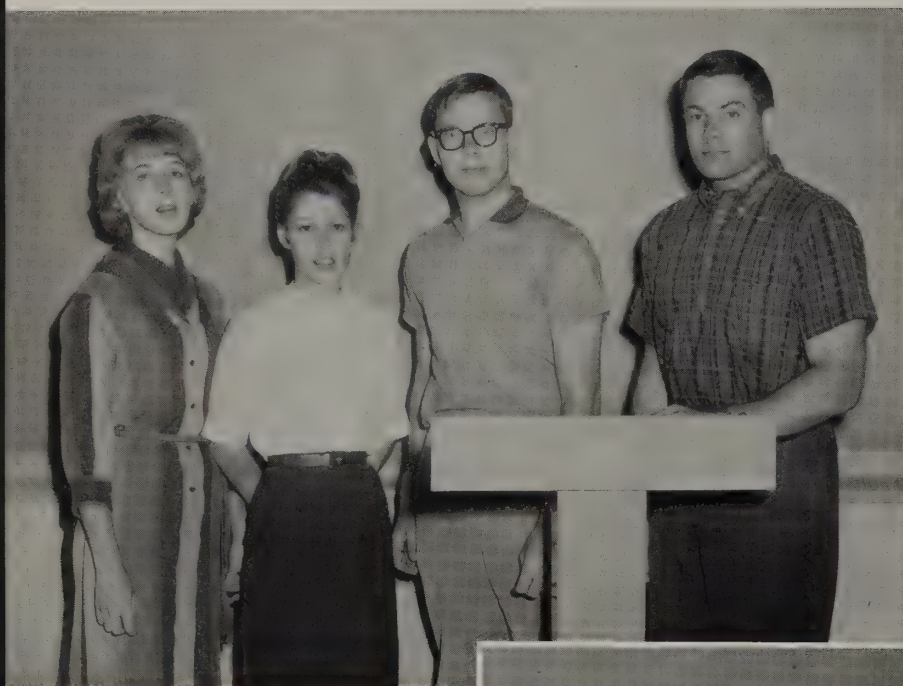

Profits from the Hatchet Hop on George Washington's Birthday helped to boost the treasury. A gift was purchased for the Spanish department with the money usually spent on a banquet. A buffet dinner concluded the year's activities.

Limelighters Enter One-Act

Limelighters, Grandview's dramatics club, is one of the most popular school organizations. Members gain theatrical experience as they serve on committees or act in school productions. If ten or more points are earned for participation in Limelighters activities, members can become National Thespians.

The major activity this year was the preparation of "Hangs Over Thy Head," a one-act play for a district contest. This was an eerie, comedy-drama, exposing the reactions of six people faced with possible destruction of the earth by an atomic bomb. This production, directed and staged by Mr. Rodgers, was presented to a school audience before the contest. Afterwards, actors were criticized by the audience and gained valuable theatrical experience before the contest.

The end of the year's activities was highlighted in June by a picnic. At this event, new members of Thespians were announced and trophies were presented to deserving actors and actresses for outstanding performances in school productions.

Club Forms First Columbus High School Chess League

The Chess Club started the year by initiating the first Columbus High School Chess League. It sponsored a meeting in December which included representatives from various high schools in Columbus. Home and away matches were played every two weeks beginning in January.

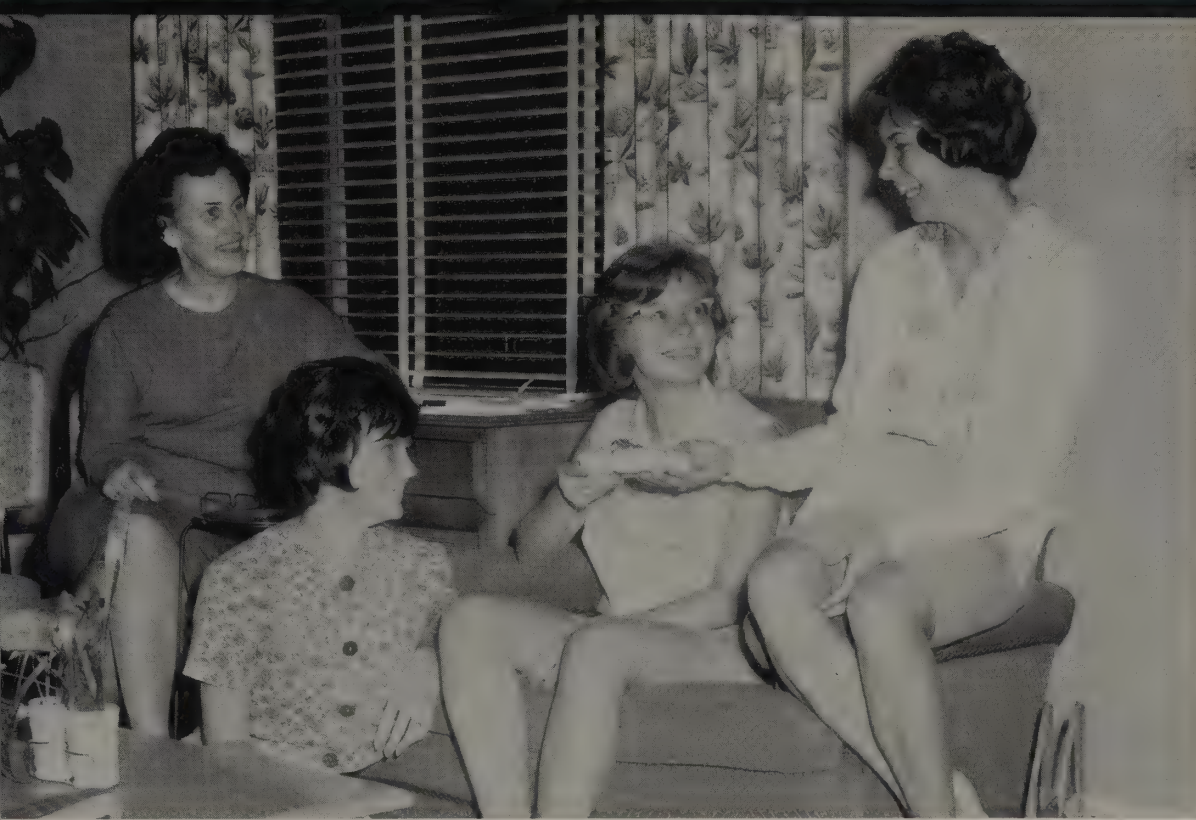

Financial backing from the school, the YMCA, and the club, enabled four members to set a precedent for the club by going to the Ohio High School Team Championship in Akron. The team rated a seventh place.

Meetings were held every other Tuesday. These meetings contributed to the more than three hundred rated games. Each member was given a rating according to the games he played. The four highest rated players formed the team. The club's numerical rating system showed its effectiveness in its second year of operation.

The establishment of a junior high club insured a strong team for next year.

CPA Club Makes Favors for Back-to-School Night

The CPA Club is an organization for those students who are interested in entering the business world. Since the club has increased its membership, it has also been able to widen its projects. During National Education Week the members made favors for the teachers to wear on Back-to-School night.

For variation the club held meetings every other week at different members homes. So that each member could participate, five committees were formed: the social, publicity, project, program, and pins committees. Each group had its own job to do.

The CPA not only sponsored school service projects but also had some social events. A Christmas party was held at the home of one of the members. To finish the year's activities the underclassmen held a party for the seniors at the Zoo Park. The boys and girls received gifts and the president received a guard for his pin. Awards were also given.

Y-Teens Sell Easter Lilies to Help Crippled Children

The first activities on the Y-Teen calendar were a Get-Acquainted party and an installation service for new members. With service as a main goal, the girls sponsored the annual Feed-a-Family drive at Thanksgiving and swarmed the Grandview area selling Easter Lilies for crippled children.

At Thanksgiving, instead of an assembly, a recorded speech by Dr. Tom Dooley was given over the loudspeaker. For Christmas the Y-Teens decorated trees and hung wreaths on every classroom door. Later in the year all women faculty members were guests at an Easter Breakfast with entertainment by the Beatle Bunnies.

The treasury was increased by girls selling shakers at football games, checking coats at basketball games, and sponsoring a bake sale.

Through the Leadership Conference in the fall and a Public Affairs Conference, Grandview's Y-Teens participated in many city-wide activities. The club also sent five seniors as hostesses to the Governor's Ball.

Hi-Y Furnish Programs for All Home Football Games

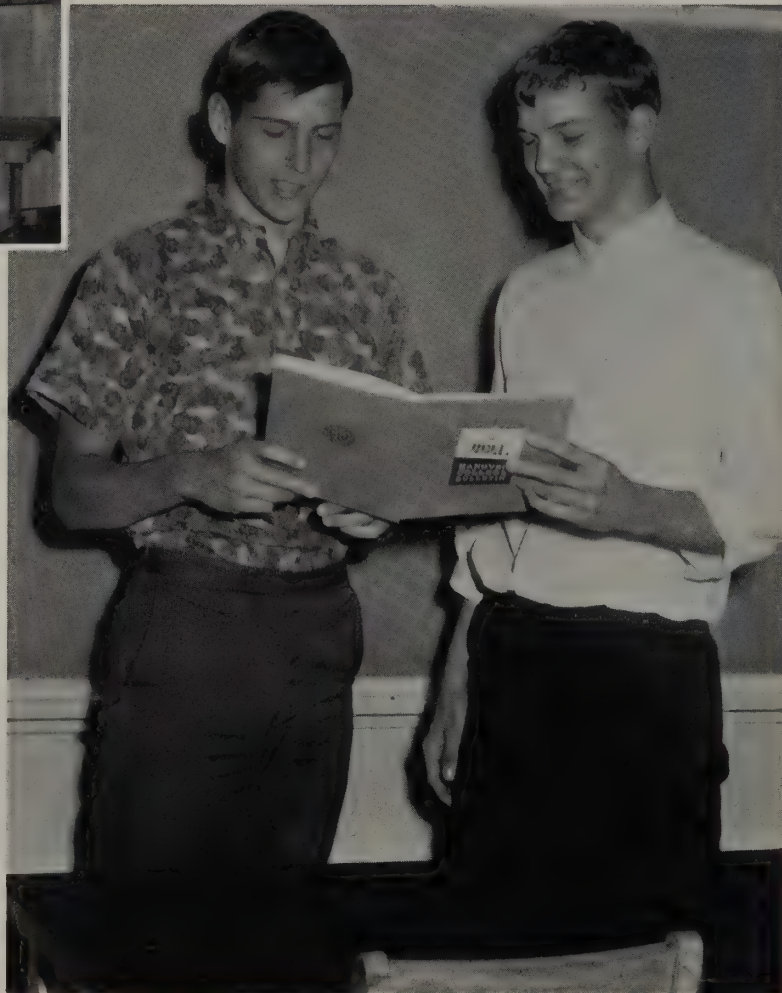

The Hi-Y, a club sponsored by the YMCA, took an active part in both the school program and the city-wide organization.

As in past years, the club co-sponsored, with the Y-Teens, the Thanksgiving Feed-a-Family project. This year the Hi-Y and Y-Teens held two joint meetings. The boys provided a skit for the Y-Teen get-acquainted party. Later the Y-Teens invited them to come to hear one of their speakers.

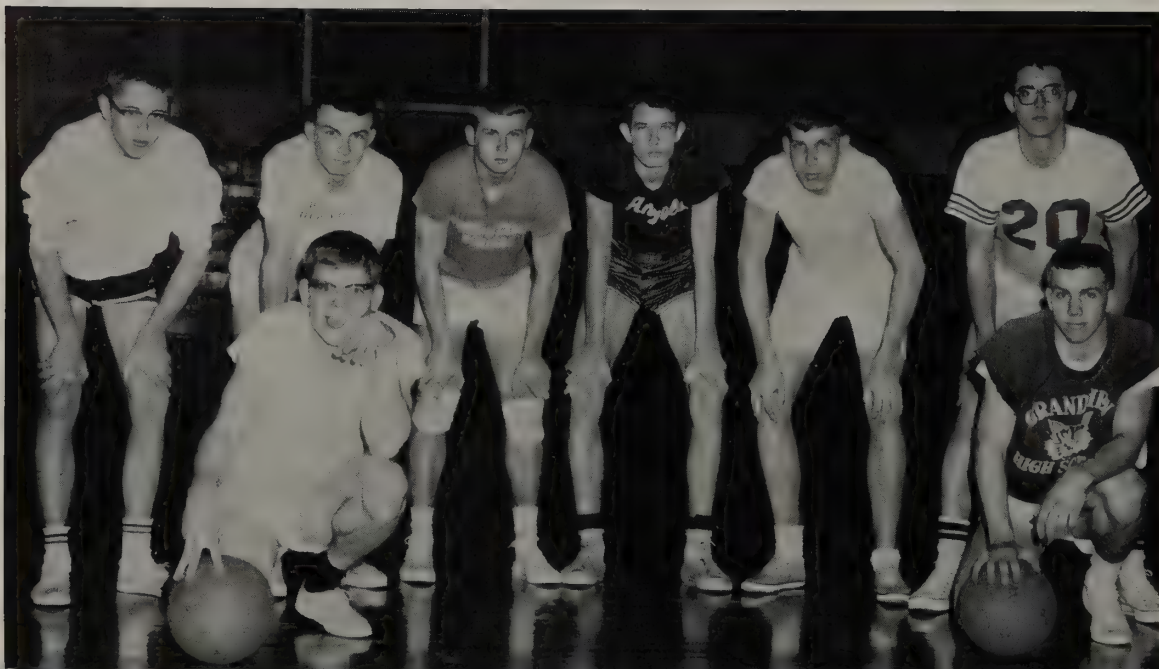

For the ever-present need for money the Hi-Y sponsored several projects. The boys could be found selling programs at all home football games, and they led all other clubs by sponsoring two dances.

Using their sports ability two teams participated in a city-wide basketball league, and a few boys entered the swim meet. Good showings were made in both these activities.

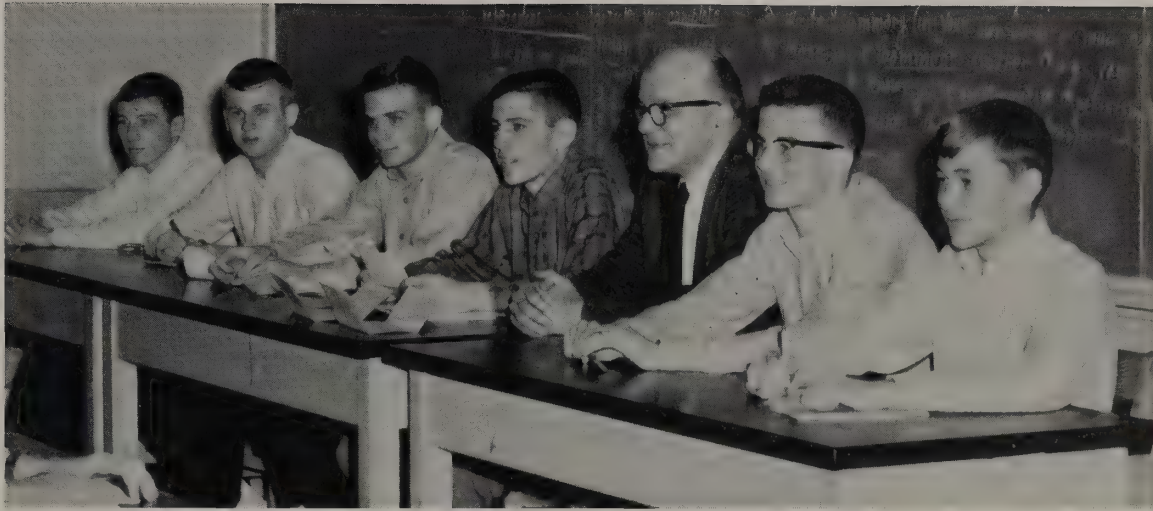

Climaxing the year was Hi-Y City Day in which seven boys from Grandview participated. In this activity representatives from clubs all over the city assumed the duties of city officials for one day.

Several Music Groups Sing for Local Civic Organizations

Accompanists Donna Sheets, Loretta Ferlito, and Jane Henry discuss Spring Music Festival.

An expanded program enabled more students to offer their talents to the Vocal Music Department. A Boys Glee Club and Freshman Girls Ensemble were major additions to the department. Under the direction of Mr. George Wilson, various groups performed at Homecoming and Christmas assemblies as well as for events outside of school.

By sponsoring a dance, the choir raised funds for necessary expenses during the year. Additional money for the treasury was gained by singing for several organizations in the Columbus area. The choir sang for the Ohio Association of Public School Employees. In May the Grandview Civic Club was entertained by the Boys and Girls Ensembles. Later in the month the Boys Ensemble and Boys Trio were featured in a television program for WOSU-TV.

The highlight of the year's activities was the Music Festival, which was held April 24. By combining the Instrumental and Vocal Music departments, an entertaining program was presented. A new musical tradition was instituted this year when a Formal Spring Concert was given with all vocal groups participating.

Vocal Music Groups Exchange Programs with Westerville

Preparation for the District and State Music Contest meant extra work for the Girls Ensemble, Mixed Ensemble, Girls Glee Club, and Girls Trio. Weeks of intense practice, however, were rewarded when the vocal groups received outstanding ratings. In March the Girls Trio and Girls Ensemble received A-I or superior ratings at the Ohio Music State Contest.

Entering Junior High Competition for the first time, the Freshman Girls Ensemble also was given an A-I rating.

The Girls Glee Club and Senior Choir attained excellent ratings at the District Contest held at Hastings Junior High School.

This year the music department found it profitable to exchange ideas with other choirs in the Central Ohio area. A valuable experience was the exchange in March of senior choirs between Westerville and Grandview. An assembly provided Grandview's students with an opportunity to enjoy a program by Westerville's vocal group. A combined picnic with the Whetstone High School Choir at the Zoo Amusement Park ended the school year for Grandview's music department.

Marching Band Adds Pep and Spirit to Football Games

The football season would not be complete without the color and spirit provided by the marching band. Under the direction of Mr. Byrnes, the band presented half-time shows featuring a variety of military drills accompanied by new marches and show tunes. Grandview's dancing majorettes, led by Joyce Steele, added new dancing and twirling routines to each week's performance.

To raise money, band members and their parents worked together on the annual cake walk, band tag sale, and Valentine Candy Sale. Funds were used for purchasing and repairing instruments and buying new uniforms.

Concerts were presented for the student body and the public in February and in April. Selections from musicals, classical pieces, and rousing marches were featured. The spring concert brought recognition to band members, as senior pins and The John Philip Sousa Award were presented to deserving bandmen.

The combined efforts of the band and vocal music departments brought the year to a close with the Spring Music Festival.

Bobcats Triple Season's Record, Improve Practice Methods

The Bobcat coaching staff this year introduced several new techniques into the practices. Many Grandview athletes spent their summer hours working vigorously toward the time when they would take the pre-season physical fitness tests instituted by Mr. Priday. Also available were the isometric bars which helped build strength all through the season.

Despite an epidemic of injuries which kept many key footballers operating at less than peak efficiency, the fighting Bobcats muscled their way to a respectable 3-6 record for the season.

After riding to victory on the passing of Steve Fekete in the first two encounters, Grandview found it tougher in the CBL. After losing to Whitehall and Mt. Vernon, however, the Bobcats parlayed the outstanding play of all-league end George Ellis and the throwing arm of recently returned Doug Welsh into a 54-6 crushing of the Delaware Pacers. Bolstered by the return of veteran receiver, Barry Shrode, the Cats played the Arlington Golden Bears on even terms for three quarters before succumbing 38-20 in one of the most wide open high school games of the year.

Post season laurels were garnered by John Shenefield, Terry Albanese, Roger Shaffer, Mark Miller, Mike Morris, and Doug Welsh as they were given an honorable mention rating in CBL. Shenefield, a tackle, was named the most valuable player, and Tom Raines and Tom Holden were elected co-captains for 1964. Mike Morris was given the first annual sportsmanship award to be presented at Grandview.

Various Honors Are Given to Bobcat Team Members

The Grandview Bobcats parlayed an exciting offense with a late season spurt to surge to an 11-11 record and to a place among the top four teams in the Central District Tournament.

The roundballers, who were the early season enigma of the Central Buckeye League, ricocheted to a 6-8 mark in loop warfare. Included in the six victories were two triumphs over Upper Arlington, two over Delaware Pacers, and one over Bexley's Blue Lions. The highlight of the regular season, however, was a resounding 66-62 thumping of Mt. Vernon's co-champion Yellow Jackets on the Bobcats' home floor. This last home appearance of the senior basketballers was spiced with fierce rebounding, a withering shooting attack, and a blazing spirit that ignited the Cats' searing ride into the district semi-finals.

With the student body cheering wildly at every Grandview basket, the cagers disposed of the Watterson Eagles, Mifflin Cowboys, the Aquinas Terriers, and the speeding Central Pirates. The South Bulldogs, eventual tournament runners-up, caught the Bobcats with their hot hands cold and sidelined them 60-50 in a gruelly contested, yet frustrating evening for the Grandviewites.

Post-season laurels were heaped upon the team members in the form of All-C.B.L. ratings for George Ellis and Doug Welsh, a most valuable player award for George Ellis, and a sportsmanship award for Mike Morris.

Bobcat Thinclads Capture Third Place in CBL Meet

The Bobcat harriers led by Co-Captains Ron Cameron and Pat Magee topped off a mediocre season by taking fifth place in the sectional meet at Raymond, a scant five points behind a tie for third. Plagued throughout the campaign with injuries, the Cats did not quite match last year's third place showing.

During the regular season the Grandview two milers compiled a 2-5 record against many of the better teams in this area.

The Bobcats competed in the Worthington Invitational along with many of the finest teams in the state and captured third place in the first CBL cross-country meet.

Junior Chuck Sweeney stood out as the outstanding Grandview two-miler by consistently leading all other Bobcat runners and ending the year by capturing 34th place in the State Cross-Country Meet.

Grapplers Make Fine Showing in District Tournaments

The Bobcat matmen, faced with a comparatively rugged schedule, were forced to settle with a 2-6 dual meet record. The grapplers competed in two invitational tournaments and the CBL meet but failed to grab a team championship.

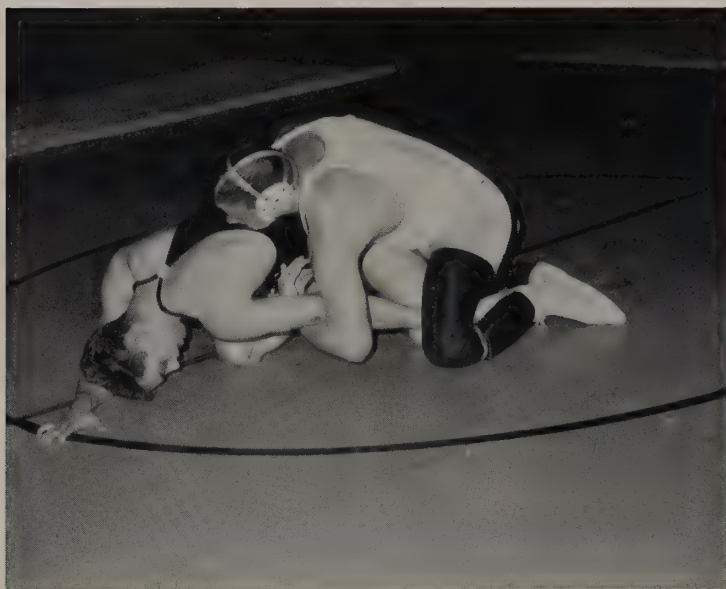

At the Franklin Heights Holiday Tourney, Captain Jim Harris and Rick Bond took third place in the 112 and 175 weight classes respectively while heavyweight Lloyd Gill and 154 pounder Jim Wiley placed fourth.

At Pleasantview Jim Harris placed third while Rick Bond and Lloyd Gill finished fourth. The CBL meet saw Jim Harris again taking third place, along with Terry Shough and Ted Jones. Fourth place finishers were Ed Tyne, Pete Butler, and Steve Niswonger.

In the Central District Tournament competition Rick Bond and Jim Harris won the sectionals with Rick going on to place fourth in the district.

Baseball Team Wins District Class AA Championship Title

The Grandview baseballers, maturing as various baseball scholars had predicted, thrilled their sturdy followers by churning to a rewarding 14-4-1 record and the coveted Central District Class AA Championship.

Spearheaded by the blazing offerings of All-CBL and All-District righthander Barry Shrode, and the timely hitting of Ed Tyne, Steve Emrich, and Doug Welsh, the diamonders ate heartily on victories over city-league co-champion Whetstone and two blisterings of CBL king Upper Arlington.

Post season laurels were heaped upon Ed Tyne, Steve Emrich, Doug Welsh, Barry Shrode, and Tom Raines, who received all-league ratings. Steve Emrich was named captain for the next season, Barry Shrode won the Mike Slawson Award, Ed Tyne won the Sportsmanship trophy, and Doug Welsh was given berths on the All-State and All-District teams.

Track Team Breaks Records; Shows Promise for Future

Running on improved cinders, the track team showed advancement throughout the season. The harriers raced to three dual meet victories. The Cats destroyed Dublin 106½ to 11½, rolled over Pleasantview 68 to 50, and squeaked past London 60 to 58.

Two new school records were set with Junior Chuck Sweeney setting a new mile record and Chuck Zimmerman a new 100 yard dash record. Both boys went on to compete in the districts.

The 880 relay team composed of Jerry Lawson, Dave Anderson, Bill Gibb, and Chuck Zimmerman went undefeated in dual meet competition. The relay team also went on to the districts.

The freshmen staged a meet with Bexley and were defeated by only a few points. The underclassmen also gained much experience by competing in varsity meets and have shown good promise especially in the distance events.

Inexperienced Tennis Team Displays a Rebuilding Season

Inexperience told the story of this year's tennis team. With only one letterman returning and most of the team members playing tennis for the first time this year, Mr. McCullough had to build his team around underclassmen. Since it was a building year, the record does not give a true indication of the desire and potential the team had. Several of the best teams in the state were scheduled, and the team gained much valuable experience against top-notch competition. The highlight of the season came in the District Tournament, where Craig McIntyre advanced to the quarter-finals before being eliminated.

Much is expected from next year's team, because everyone had a chance to compete in at least one varsity match and all but three players will be back next year.

Golf Team Takes a Fourth Place in District Tournament

Although the record may not show it, the golf team had a very successful season. The team progressed with experience, and under the watchful eye of Coach Householder, the boys took many strokes off their games. The team had improved so much, in fact, that by the time the district tournaments rolled around, the boys presented a formidable challenge for any team in the district, and they proved their worth by gaining a fourth place in the tournament. Captain Pete Butler did an excellent job of leading his team on the greens, and his score, more often than not, was one of the lowest. Although the team is losing several excellent seniors, next year's linksmen promise to be a good group. They will be captained by one of the team's finest golfers, Tom Maxson.

GAA Members Work Hard to Earn Money for Senior Scholarship

Added activities gave the GAA a different look this year, starting with a new adviser, Miss Sallie Phillips. Several individual clubs were formed within the GAA. The drill team, called the "Highlander Lassies," performed at the home basketball games. Girls interested in refereeing games joined the Officials Club. The Modern Dance Club put on an evening program open to the public.

Bake sales and the sale of sweat-shirts and bowling tickets were added to the money-making projects. The new concession stand on the football field made it possible to prepare the food on the spot. GAA also sponsored three dances with an all-school badminton tournament at one of them.

Hard-working members were rewarded at the Winter Sports Banquet and the Spring Sports Tea. A new point system made the 500, 750, and 1000 Point Letters harder to earn. Outstanding seniors were presented with the Marjorie King Award, the Ring Girl Award, and a $300 scholarship. These awards will become a yearly tradition.

New Technique Aids Cheerleaders in Creating Enthusiasm

The main goal of the 1963-64 cheerleaders was encouraging our Bobcats. They worked in earnest to promote a new team spirit.

At the beginning of the year the cheerleaders sponsored a dance to usher in the football season. They chartered a bus to Mt. Vernon so that the Bobcat fans could support their team. Weekly study hall decorations inspired the team and fans to many a victory. The ideas ranged from space ships to tarnished bears.

Under the supervision of Miss Phillips, the cheerleaders adopted a new basic style of cheering. The new technique is similar to the type colleges use. Evening practices were held in order to devote sufficient time to practice. Noon pep rallies took on a brighter look with the help of the Pep Band and many new cheers. In the spring tryouts were held. Four juniors and four seniors were elected for next year's squad.

ACTIVITIES

Rick Bell promises changes in the Boosters if he is elected.

The "Magic Jeannie" grants students wishes by promoting an enchanting year.

Booster Assembly Ends Summer of Hard Work for Candidates

The first Booster assembly started as the candidates for secretary presented their skits. Carol Lewis's supporters staged a Hootenanny. Singing her praises they urged everyone to "Roll Out the Barrel and Vote for Carol." Ship wrecked sailors were amidst native islanders and held dances as they searched for a secretary. A map led the way to a chest from which Mariann Prosser emerged. Explorers looking for a Booster secretary found themselves imprisoned by a sultan. Their hopes were renewed when "The Magic Jeannie" Smathers appeared. The country folks of Chicken Bristle were in need of a secretary. Two clans were on the verge of war when Cecilia Wheeler returned and promised to do a good job.

The four great moments in the life of Rick Bell were re-enacted as his supporters interpreted his non-conformist theme. While Dave "the nose" Dennis and his "four Nose-men" sang of his qualities, ballerinas danced. Dave suggested that the students let his nose guide the Boosters. After Lloyd Gill delivered his speech, "The Jolly Green Giant" and his campaigners sang "Green-Green." Dr. Dave Williams saved the day in the operating room as he injected 1000 cc of GHS Pep into a dying Booster.

A treasure map leads sailors to Mariann Prosser.

Dave Dennis says that it is as plain as the "nose on my face" that he is the best one.

Big Lloyd Gill and his campaigners spell out his plea to "Vote Gill."

Cecilia Wheeler suggests that the students "Pick the Chick from Chicken Bristle."

Carol Lewis's supporters "Roll Out the Barrel" to vote for Carol.

Dr. Dave Williams promises to inject new spirit to liven Boosters.

"Jewels of '64": Sharon Lindig, Donna Ferlito, Queen Mary Guggenaster, Lynne Mason, Maureen Flanagan.

Queen Mary Guggenaster is escorted down the aisle by Charles Zimmerman.

Treasure Chest Opens to Present Homecoming Jewels of '64

Homecoming was officially opened during the assembly when the treasure chest of beauty was opened presenting the "Jewels of 1963." Homecoming Queen Judy Kibele of 1962 came back to crown Mary Guggenaster as this year's queen. Queen Mary and her court: Maureen Flanagan, Donna Ferlito, Sharon Lindig, and Lynn Mason reigned under a lustrous golden crown. Kim Kaiser, master of ceremonies, introduced Mr. Dale Bordner, member of Grandview Boosters Association, as guest speaker. After congratulating Queen Mary and her court Mr. Bordner gave encouragement to the team for the game that night.

Later that evening, the court watched the Grandview-Worthington game from their royal stand. Although the game was a defeat for the Bobcats, the beautiful autumn evening, the team's fine showing, and our lovely court kept spirits high.

The festive weekend was brought to a close as the Homecoming ship anchored in "Misty Bay." Saturday night, couples danced to the music of the "Tunstons" and admired the marvelous decorations showing a little fishing village just off the bay.

Although never again will the Homecoming ship of '63 dock at Misty Bay, its weekend voyage shall never be forgotten.

Seniors Look for Success in "Take Her She's Mine"

When Mollie Michaelson goes off to an exclusive eastern college for women, her father has no idea what kind of education Mollie has in mind, but soon he finds that it differs greatly from what he thought.

Mollie soon makes up her mind that every night should be a night on the town. She spends much of her time dating such BMOC'S as Donn Bowdry. She even applies for secretarial work to help with field studies in Europe. In a short while her spirits are rocketing sky high and her grades are plunging down with just as much speed. She comes home for Christmas vacation and begins to wonder what she ever saw in California. Mollie is in so much of a hurry to leave that her father has to give her a sharp lecture to bring her to her senses.

The next time Mollie comes home from school she announces that she has decided to quit school and become a court stenographer. She is practicing her planned profession when a friend of hers from the East stops at her house on his way to Stanford University. In a short time the friend, Alex Loomis, convinces Mollie to transfer to Stanford and finish her education as Mrs. Alex Loomis.

The committee heads—Judy Cooper, Lloyd Gill, Nancy Shaeffer, Cheryl Hughes, Sharon Ott, Cecilia Wheeler, Karen Engdahl, Ann Steele, and Mariann Prosser—pose in front of sign advertising play.

"I believe I know the answer," volunteers Anita Dye to dorm mates Susie Adams, Judi Penzone, and Sharon Lindig.

Junior Class Presents "The Man Who Came to Dinner"

The junior class presented an entertaining evening of comedy with their spring production of "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

When famous celebrity, Sheridan Whiteside, injures his hip at the home of the Stanley family, his three hilarious weeks of recuperation result in mass chaos and confusion. Further problems result when Maggie Cutler, secretary to Mr. Whiteside, falls in love with Bert Jefferson, a reporter for the local newspaper. Their happiness, however, is halted with the arrival of Hollywood siren, Lorraine Sheldon. Problems are eventually solved with the help of Banjo, an eccentric actor friend of Whiteside.

Many other supporting character roles provided lively humor that delighted and entertained the audience. Committees provided excellent sets, props, and make-up that added to the success of "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

"Let Miss Preen down," commands Sheridan Whiteside, Ed Steele, to Banjo, Rick Bell, as he carries off Mariann Prosser.

"I've always admired you," sighs Kathy McQuilkin to Ed Steele.

Quill and Scroll Members Induct Worthy Journalists

To reward diligent workers on the yearbook and newspaper staffs, Quill and Scroll confers the highest honor given in the field of high school journalism. The inductees for Quill and Scroll must rank in the upper third of their class and must have taken an especially active role in some phase of the journalism program.

The annual Quill and Scroll Banquet was held this year at Grandview Inn, with representatives from the Highlander Editorial Staff, the Highlander Business Staff, the Bobcat Editorial Staff, and the Bobcat Business Staff being present. After a chicken dinner, Mrs. Pauline Taynor spoke to the staffs concerning her experiences as a reporter for the Columbus Citizen Journal. The active members then proceeded to explain the qualities necessary for the journalist of today. The climax of the ceremony was the induction of new members by these active Quill and Scroll members. Seven juniors and six seniors were tapped for membership and took the oath to uphold the ideals of the society.

Active Chapter Points Out Five Qualities in Assembly

The National Honor Society members were quite busy this year preparing for two assemblies, selling NHS stationery and sponsoring a dance. In the fall the students spent hours preparing for an assembly to point out the five qualities of NHS: character, citizenship, scholarship, leadership, service. Five members dressed up to over-emphasize each point and to show how one-sided a person could be if he concentrated on just one of the characteristics.

Later in the year the club sponsored a dance after one of the basketball games to raise money. Members also sold NHS stationery to help bring in revenue.

Spring brought another assembly and the selection of twenty-four new inductees into NHS, eight seniors and sixteen juniors. These new members were tapped by the active chapter. A former NHS student was the main speaker at the assembly. The active chapter honored the new inductees at a luncheon held at one of the member's homes.

Several Students Place in District; Awards Given at an Assembly

Members of the General Scholarship Team represented Grandview well in district and state wide competition. Ten students placed in the district and one student placed in state competition. Highest honors went to Doug Wilson, who received tenth place in the state in physics and to Betsy Wuichet, who placed second in the district in French I.

Many other Grandview students received recognition for outstanding scholarship. The Gary C. Myers, Jr. Awards were presented to Doug Wilson in mathematics and Ed Steele for creative writing. Doug also was the recipient of the Bausch and Lomb Honorary Science Award. This year Grandview was proud to have Mary Walborn and Karen Engdahl as winners of National Merit Scholarships. The Ohio Academy of Science made an award to the entire school for participation in science.

Local scholarships were presented by the PTA, the Boosters, and the Kiwanis Club to Madeliene Paul, Jim Harris, and Ed Steele, respectively.

One Hundred Twenty-Six Seniors Receive Diplomas at Graduation

Baccalaureate was held Sunday evening, June 7, in the high school auditorium. Senior couples came down the aisle to "God of Our Fathers" and marched out to "Pomp and Circumstance." The senior choir sang "No Man is an Island," "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "O Brother Man." Dr. Paul Acker gave the sermon for the service and senior officers gave the responsive reading and the prayers. A reception, sponsored by the mothers of the senior class, was held afterwards in the gym.

June 9, 1964, will always be remembered by one hundred twenty-six people as the day they graduated from Grandview Heights High School. The auditorium was completely filled as parents, relatives, and friends watched the seniors receive their diplomas.

The first four students in the class and the class president gave speeches: Valedictorian, Karen Engdahl, spoke on "Specifics"; Salutatorian, Mary Walborn, "From the Heights to the Heights"; Doug Wilson, "Learning: the Great Adventure"; Ed Steele, "Happiness—C.O.D."; and Roger Shaffer, "Take Four."

The girls ensemble provided the music for the ceremony by singing "Graduation Day" and "When I Have Sung My Songs."

Picnic and All-Night Climax Twelve Happy Years for Seniors

Spring Valley Pool in Granville was the spot for the all day senior picnic. Everyone joined in the baseball and volleyball games and fun in the pool. Barbecued hot dogs, baked beans, and potato salad was the lunch for the seniors.

Again this year the seniors invaded the campus of Wittenberg University at Springfield, Ohio, for their all-night party. Three bus loads left Columbus in time to arrive at their destination by 12:30. Dorms were provided for everyone to change clothes for the buffet style dinner-dance held in the new student union.

At about 3:00 the graduates changed into sports wear for bowling and billiards. After working up a big appetite by swimming, playing basketball, volleyball, and badminton, new graduates went back to the union for a hearty cafeteria style breakfast.

Buses left Springfield for Columbus around 7:00 and arrived back at school at 8:00. Tired but happy the old seniors departed for home from high school for the last time.

OUTSTANDING SENIOR MARY MARTHA WALBORN—Although checking props for class plays has been one of Mary's official duties in the theater, she found time to participate in the junior class play this year. Mary has earned honors scholastically. She won a National Merit Scholarship and was in NHS. Mary also found time to be treasurer of the Science Club and participated in several vocal music groups.

OUTSTANDING SENIOR GEORGE ELLIS—George has always found time to study between the many practices for all the athletic teams he has been on. Since his freshman year he has participated on the football and basketball teams, and this year he was basketball captain. George has been the leader of Student Council by serving as president. For his outstanding scholarship and athletic ability he was presented the Agonis Scholarship.

OUTSTANDING SENIOR JEAN KIBELE—Jean, as business manager of GAA, has devoted much time to ordering food for football and basketball games. She has been on the yearbook and newspaper staffs for three years. Her junior year she was class secretary, Y-Teen vice president and was inducted into both NHS and Quill and Scroll, and her senior year she was co-editor of the Highlander.

OUTSTANDING SENIOR JAMES HARRIS—Jim, who has played an important part in Grandview's music department, was a member of the marching and concert bands for six years. He was active in Student Council by serving as treasurer and going on the exchange to West Allegheny. Jim was president of NHS and Leaders Club and captain of the wrestling team. He was also selected to be a member of Quill and Scroll for his work as Bobcat Sports Editor.

OUTSTANDING SENIOR EDWARD STEELE—Composing his own music arrangements is one of Ed's favorite hobbies. He has served Grandview well in this field by being in the band and musical cast. Ed is a fine actor and was rewarded for his efforts by earning the Master Thespian trophy. He was a member of NHS and received the Kiwanis scholarship and the Gary C. Myers Award for creative writing.

OUTSTANDING SENIOR SUSAN KELCHNER—Although Susan has many activities to keep her busy, she found time to earn honor grades and serve in National Honor Society and Quill and Scroll. Susan served well as co-editor of the Highlander and as secretary of FTA. She has also had an active part in both the marching and the concert bands and on the Y-Teen cabinet.

OUTSTANDING SENIOR MAUREEN FLANAGAN—Maureen, leader of all school spirit, served as captain of the cheerleading squad. She was kept busy in GAA by being on both varsity hockey and basketball teams. She received her 1000 point letter, the GAA scholarship, and the Marjorie King Award for sportsmanship. She has been in NHS for two years and was vice president her senior year.

OUTSTANDING SENIOR JOEL VICTOR—Joe, as editor of the Bobcat, turned out an All-American newspaper this year. For his work he was honored by receiving membership in Quill and Scroll and NHS. As a sophomore he was vice president of Science Club. Joe was also in Leaders Club two years. This year Joe was the recipient of a full scholarship to New York University.

OUTSTANDING SENIOR KAREN ENGDAHL—Karen has been the hardest working artist around school. She was in charge of a Homecoming committee and of the scenery for both class plays, but Karen spent most of her time studying. She was in NHS, won a National Merit Scholarship, and was Valedictorian of her class. She was also in the choir and served as secretary of the Science Club.

OUTSTANDING SENIOR DOUGLAS WILSON—Doug, whose main hobby has been playing chess and who is president of the chess team, founded a new chess league in Columbus this year. He has also taken an active interest in the Science Club as well as Leaders Club. Doug's prime interest has been his studies. He was honored by being presented the Gary C. Myers Math Award and the Bausch and Lomb Honorary Science Award.

Happiness is many things. To the seniors it may be receiving their diplomas; to the juniors, the thought of becoming "mighty" seniors; to the sophomores, ordering their rings; and to the freshmen, going to their first formal dance.

To the yearbook staff happiness is producing this book. We would like to thank all who helped us with the yearbook, especially: Mrs. Monahan, the yearbook adviser; J. Curtis Allen, the school photographer; and Matt McCormick, the representative to the Taylor Publishing Company. We hope that this book will bring back happy memories to you, and we wish you much happiness in the future.
